Most authors choose these editing calls when they have specific chapters they want to go over. This is a great way to receive some developmental feedback without paying for a full developmental edit. Editing calls can be over my conference line or Zoom.

Copy Editing

Once your manuscript is complete, I can provide a professional copy edit, which addresses correctness, clarity, consistency, readability, and adherence to Chicago Manual of Style. It's the "heavy lifting" of the micro-editing phase, and I will ensure the reader can move through your content well. Note: Copy editing should be completed before your book is professionally formatted in InDesign.

Priced by word count - $0.025-0.035/word

Proofreading

This edit takes place after the book has been formatted by a typesetter and is in PDF format. The proofreader is responsible for correcting any remaining typos and grammatical/spelling errors that remain after the revision process. As your proofreader, I will also note issues with formatting or spacing, margins, citations, page numbers, correct table of contents, and properly assigned headers and footers throughout.
